filed herein are both overruled and denied by the Court.

Regarding the exhibits admitted in evidence in the case, the Court is of the opinion that all exhibits admitted were pertinent and properly allowed in evidence.

The defendant's Motion for Judgment of Acquittal made at the close of the Government's case was without merit in view of the evidence and was then and is now properly overruled by the Court.

Regarding the alleged error of the Court in overruling the defendant's motion for a mistrial with reference to the defendant being in leg irons and handcuffs before some of the jury panel, the record will reveal that when the defendant made such motion to the Court outside the presence of the jury, the Court then excused the jury and called for a hearing on the motion, since the defendant had never appeared in the courtroom in leg irons or handcuffs throughout the trial when the Court was present. Upon such hearing the defendant called only one witness, the Chief Deputy United States Marshal, who testified that there were not over ten people in the courtroom when the defendant was first brought into the courtroom directly from the Tulsa County jail. He further testified that they or some of them could have been members of the jury panel but he was unable to definitely say that any of them were in fact members of the jury panel. There was thus no proof before the Court that any members of the jury panel in fact saw the defendant in manacles. In any event, the Court is fully satisfied that only reasonable, necessary and proper procedures were used by the law enforcement officers in transporting the defendant from the Tulsa County jail where he was confined due to not making bail fixed at $50,000.00, to the courtroom for and during this trial. The defendant was placed in an anteroom serving the courtroom and when the Court first called the case the defendant entered the courtroom from the anteroom without any manacles of any kind on and the defendant did not have manacles of any kind on in the courtroom at any time during the entire trial. The Court is of the opinion that the defendant received a fair trial and was not prejudiced even if some member or members of the jury panel may have seen the defendant with manacles on while he was being transported from the Tulsa County jail to the courtroom for the trial herein.
